

Interactive Composition Assisted with Machine Learning

Nianze Liu
New York University

This article goes over several projects in Google Magenta to see how composer might take advantage of machine learning as an interactive tool for composition.

Keywords: Machine Learning, Interactive Composition

Introduction